The scheme seeks to upscale young migrants' skills and increase their employability, while addressing EU labour market shortages.

Mobility scheme: young graduates in Nigeria and Senegal will benefit from a temporary job placement in one of the 4 EU Member States. Outreach to potential candidates and companies, screening of candidate profiles and matching with interested companies will be undertaken. Logistical and operational support will also be provided. In an effort to empower women, the project will target a minimum share of 30% female beneficiaries.

Skills development: selected candidates will be offered various trainings organized by the individual companies and employment agencies.

Knowledge transfer: labour migrants will also be invited to engage in projects in their home country to facilitate skills and knowledge transfer to their communities of origin.

Peer-to-peer capacity building: MATCH will facilitate the exchange between employer organizations and employment agencies in the 4 participating EU Member States and their counterparts in Senegal and Nigeria. Employer organizations and employment agencies in Nigeria and Senegal will benefit from capacity building trainings on labour market analysis, matching of labour supply with demand and exploring labour opportunities abroad.
